

As an American I feel free I can do as I please, I can choose between right and wrong and tell the difference between good and bad.

I am proud to be an American. When I attended a parade in Belle Verion honoring all the men and women who served their country in Operation Desert Storm I was sad and happy at the same time. I was happy the war was over but sad for the ones that died. This occasion made me more aware that I was an American. America is a great land to live in.

REFORMING THE WELFARE PROGRAM

(Mr. CHAMBLISS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CHAMBLISS. Mr. Speaker, today is truly a historic day in the House as it is on the verge of doing what should have been done many years ago, reform a welfare program that does not work for the poorest Americans.

The Republican welfare reform bill will cap benefits and allow States to decide for themselves how to prioritize their resources. Our bill tightens up enforcement provisions against deadbeat dads, encourages welfare recipients to work, and discourages illegitimacy.

I have a message for the other side of the aisle and it is the same message the American people sent last November: The time has come to reassess the Federal Government's role in the lives of the American people. That means making the tough decisions and learning for the first time in Washington to say "No."

Mr. Speaker, our position is clear: The new majority is passing its contract. Bills that matter to the American people. Meanwhile, the minority is reduced to scare-tactics aimed at children and the elderly.

Mr. Speaker, the wheels are not coming off this contract, they are just beginning to turn.

THE LINE-ITEM VETO

(Mr. WILLIAMS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, my colleagues, have you seen the line-item veto bill that the Senate passed last night? In order to take care of their concerns, their legitimate concerns, that some of us in the House share about the potential unconstitutional nature of allowing a President a line-item veto, of allowing a President to reach inside of an appropriation bill and strike a section of it, in order to get around that constitutional provision, they passed a line-item veto bill which would require the President to veto not 1 of 13 appropriation bills that we would send him; we would now send him one bill for every item appropriated.

We would now, under line-item veto, send the President a minimum of 10,000 appropriations bills, 10,000 appropriation bills instead of the current 13.

I think that, instead of trying to find Rube Goldberg convoluted ways to subvert the Constitution, we ought to pay more attention to trying to discipline our own spending habits.

BREAKING THE CYCLE OF DEPENDENCY

(Mr. FOX of Pennsylvania asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. FOX of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, our current welfare system erodes the basic building blocks of our society, discourages work, destroys families, and forces reliance on the Government.

Just since 1989, the welfare rolls have grown 31 percent.

As President Franklin Delano Roosevelt said in 1935, to dole out relief is to administer a narcotic, a subtle destroyer of the human spirit.

That is why we are here this week, to break the cycle of dependency created by the narcotic of welfare and restore hope and independence to millions of Americans. The Republican welfare reform plan would help able-bodied people come off welfare with job counseling, job training, and job placement.

It increases funding for school nutrition programs, day care for children, and WIC, and lets States decide how best to run their own welfare program. It eliminates discriminatory delays in adoption.

That is sound, compassionate policy, Mr. Speaker. It is time we applied the principles of family, work, and self-reliance that built our country. The Republican welfare reform plan moves us significantly in this direction.

For the sake of our children and grandchildren, let us reform welfare now.

CONTRACT AGAINST AMERICA'S CHILDREN AND FAMILIES

(Mr. RUSH asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. RUSH. Mr. Speaker, last night we witnessed an all-out war waged by the Republican majority against the most vulnerable of our society, our impoverished children.

My colleagues on the other side of the aisle will tell us that block grants will actually provide more services for less money.

Well, Mr. Speaker, let me tell the American people that this is not the case.

Under the Republican plan, actual disbursement funds for school lunches and WIC programs will be cut by more than $2 billion.

Over the past several weeks I have received thousands of letters, cards, and drawings from young children in my district, who under this plan, will be forced to carry the burden of tax cuts for the wealthy on their tiny shoulders. They tell me how much they need these programs to grow up healthy and strong. They tell me that without school lunches they will go to school hungry and not ready to learn.

Mr. Speaker, we are witnessing an all-out attack on the most defenseless of our society by the majority party in Congress. We must make a stand against these callous actions. We cannot let the poor and the hungry in the Nation fall victim to this outdated and cold-hearted legislative agenda.

SUPPORT AND PASS THE NEW WELFARE REFORM PACKAGE

(Mr. TIAHRT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. TIAHRT. Mr. Speaker, this country has spent $5 trillion over the last 30 years on a system that has produced more people than ever in poverty. It is a broken system that teaches exactly the wrong things. It is antiwork, it is antiproperty, and it is antifamily.

Because of this system, we have condemned second and third generations to the same life of poverty, not only financial poverty but poverty of spirit.

People need to work. You cannot have self-esteem without accomplishment. You cannot have accomplishment without work.

Let us give our people hope, dignity through work. Let us pass H.R. 4, the new welfare reform package.

THE DEAL SUBSTITUTE SOLVED THE WELFARE MESS

(Mr. DURBIN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. Speaker, everyone concedes, Democrat, Republican, and Independent alike, that the welfare system in America is a failure. My political party, the Democrats, should not be so proud that they do not concede that fact as well. But the Republicans should not be so spiteful or short-sighted as to believe that just ending or getting tough on welfare will solve the problem.

We have got to take people off of welfare and put them to work. That is why we had 205 Members, 1 courageous Republican, and all of the Democrats on this side of the aisle who voted, voted for the Deal substitute last night. Liberals, conservatives came together and said, "Let us put people to work."

Why does the Republican welfare reform bill fail when it comes to work? Because they will not invest money in education, training, day care, the obvious things you need to bring someone off welfare.

What do the Republicans do with the money they save from their welfare reform? They put it into a tax cut, a tax cut for the privileged few. Now, does that make sense?
